I am delighted to welcome you to Asia-Global Dialogue (AGD) 2017. This is the fourth AGD and the second to be held by the Asia Global Institute at The University of Hong Kong. The first two AGDs were held respectively in 2012 and 2013 by the Fung Global Institute, predecessor of the Asia Global Institute. Many of you here will recall that the Fung Global Institute was established in 2011 with the mission to reflect Asian perspectives on global issues. This mission was taken up with renewed vigour by the Asia Global Institute.

Today, our world is facing disruptions of historic proportions that are transforming our society in myriad ways, not least in the way we live and work and the way we invest, trade and communicate. Thus we need new ways of looking at the issues facing us and their impact on us and the next generations.

AGD 2017 is an established forum for thought leaders from different sectors and disciplines to engage in a dialogue and share insights on some of the disruptions and transformations we are experiencing. The spirit of this exercise, as always, is to bring Asian perspectives to these critical global issues.

We have but a day to cover these discussions. But as we have always known, from the earliest days of the Asia Global Institute and during the lifetime of its predecessor, the Fung Global Institute, this is just one step in a series that span the work of generations.

With that I welcome you to Asia-Global Dialogue 2017: Asian Perspectives in a New Global Economy.

Victor K Fung
Advisory Board Co-Chair
Asia Global Institute
WELCOME MESSAGE FROM MICHAEL SPENCE

As Co-Chair of the Asia Global Institute and a speaker at today’s conference, let me offer a warm welcome to Asia-Global Dialogue 2017: Asian Perspectives in a New Global Economy.

Much has changed since we convened this conference in 2016. We have seen the impact of rising inequality on political systems around the world. This, in turn, has triggered an urgent need for fresh voices and critical dialogue within an environment that encourages informed exchanges of views and ideas. These exchanges need to be undertaken with a view to bringing about an economic order that is equitable, inclusive, and sustainable, and to reestablishing trust in our systems of governance.

With political paralysis crippling the west, it is vital for Asian voices to be heard on global issues. I am grateful for the opportunity to once again address you all, and to listen to your insights and ideas, in a conference that I am confident will leave a long-lasting mark on those who are present today, and on those who will bring the ideas we generate back to their home countries and organizations.

I echo the words of my Co-Chair Victor K Fung, when we speak of what we do as the work of generations. It is my hope that this work, and the mission that guides the Asia Global Institute, inspires us to do our part to build lasting, inclusive societies which our future depends on.

Michael Spence
Advisory Board Co-Chair
Asia Global Institute

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM ZHIWU CHEN

As Director of the Asia Global Institute, I take great pleasure to welcome speakers, participants, and student observers to Asia-Global Dialogue 2017 (AGD 2017). While this is my first time at the conference, some of you have been to AGD before.

As with our recently launched AsiaGlobal Fellows Program, Asia-Global Dialogue represents our commitment to championing the cause of globalization, which has succeeded in lifting millions of people out of poverty. While events in Europe and the U.S. have made some doubt the benefits of globalization, I have long believed that peace and prosperity in today’s global society are ever more dependent on openness, understanding, and interaction between peoples and across borders.

I would like to thank HSBC who has, as our sole diamond sponsor, played an essential role in bringing AGD 2017 to fruition. I would also like to thank you, the conference speakers and participants, for sharing your insights and knowledge with us; and our student observers, for being a part of the dialogue with us. I am confident that all of us here today will benefit from interacting with some of the best and brightest minds who are committed to bringing Asian perspectives to global issues.

ASIA-GLOBAL DIALOGUE AND THE ASIA GLOBAL INSTITUTE

WHY ASIA-GLOBAL DIALOGUE?

The Asia-Global Dialogue (AGD) was first launched in 2012 by the Fung Global Institute to draw together experts who have a deep understanding of Asia. AGD presents a select group of business leaders, international policy makers, and influential members of civil society a platform on which to consider and exchange ideas on pressing issues of our time.

Over the years, AGD has featured international thought leaders as U.S. Federal Reserve Board Member Stanley Fischer; former U.S. Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volker; HSBC Holdings Group CEO Stuart Gulliver; Suntory Holdings President Takeshi Niinami; The Center for Global Enterprise Chairman Sam Palmisano; GE Vice Chairman John Rice; Schneider Electric CEO Jean-Pascal Tricoire; and Skandinaviska Enskilda Banken Chairman Marcus Wallenberg.

Some of these influential voices serve on the Advisory Board of the Asia Global Institute.

ASIA-GLOBAL DIALOGUE 2017: ASIAN PERSPECTIVES IN A NEW GLOBAL ECONOMY

This year’s discussions are built around the theme of Asian Perspectives in a New Global Economy. Sessions will focus on issues triggered by populism and a perceived retreat from globalization. They will also touch on trade, finance, sustainable development, and the potential impact of artificial intelligence.

Asia-Global Dialogue 2017’s Main Conference takes place from 0830-1800 at Loke Yew Hall, The University of Hong Kong. The Gala Dinner will take place from 1830-2130 at The Conrad Hong Kong.

ABOUT ASIA GLOBAL INSTITUTE

The Asia Global Institute (AGI) assumes and takes forward the mission of the Fung Global Institute, to generate and disseminate innovative thinking and business-relevant research on global issues from Asian perspectives. It aims to inform global policy and actions towards a prosperous and sustainable future for all.

AGI is the result of a collaboration between the Fung Global Institute and The University of Hong Kong. It was inaugurated on July 1, 2015.

Mrs Lam is married and has two sons.

Marc Levitt
AsiaGlobal Fellow, Asia Global Institute

As an independent political consultant, Marc Levitt advises a roster of candidates and groups on messaging and organizational strategy. He played key roles building presidential campaigns for President Barack Obama and, most recently, as senior staff to Senator Bernie Sanders. He also worked as a policy advisor at the U.S. Department of Energy during President Obama’s first Administration. In between campaigns, he received his J.D. from the Georgetown University Law Center and practiced as a white collar defense and investigations attorney at Latham & Watkins. A former Fulbright Scholar in Germany, he received his bachelor’s degree from Brown University, where he graduated magna cum laude in philosophy and German studies.

He focuses on the adaptability and applicability of U.S. electioneering techniques in East Asia, using Hong Kong as a case study. A key rationale is to assess whether techniques that stimulate higher voter turnout in U.S. elections can also increase electoral participation in Hong Kong and generate dividends for Hong Kong’s pursuit of democratization. A second rationale is to foster a mutual understanding of electioneering practices in culturally and geographically disparate contexts.

Mingkang Liu
Distinguished Fellow, Asia Global Institute

Liu Mingkang, the Institute’s first Distinguished Fellow, provides strategic advice on research to its leadership. He served as the first Chairman of the China Banking Regulatory Commission (CBRC) from 2003 to 2011 and was a member of the Monetary Policy Committee of the People’s Bank of China. Previously, Professor Liu was Chairman and President of the Bank of China (2000-09), Chairman of China Everbright Group (1999-2000), Deputy Governor of the People’s Bank of China (1998-99) and Deputy Governor of China Development Bank (1996-98). He is a member of the 17th Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, and of the China National Energy Commission. He is also Vice Chairman of the Committee for Economic Affairs of the National Committee of the Chinese People’s Political Consultative Conference.

From 1993-94, Professor Liu was Deputy Governor of Fujian province and Secretary-General of the Fujian Provincial Government. He also serves as a senior fellow of the Hong Kong Institute of Bankers. He was a member of the Financial Stability Board (FSB), Vice Chairman of the Standing Committee on Supervisory and Regulatory Cooperation under the FSB, a member of the Governance Body of the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision, and a Director of the Board of the International Centre for Leadership in Finance and Bank Negara Malaysia. He was a Vice Chairman of the International Institute of Finance and a member of the Advisory Council of the Daimler-Chrysler Group. Professor Liu sits on the International Advisory Boards of the Guanghua Management School of Peking University and of the School of Economics and Management of Tsinghua University. He is the honorary Dean of the Loongshan (University) College of Sun Yat-sen University in Guangzhou, China. CBRC and Professor Liu, personally, were jointly named Risk Manager of the Year 2000 by the Global Association of Risk Professionals. He has been an invited participant at the Aspen Institute, Group of Thirty and at all other important international economic and financial forums. Professor Liu received an MBA and an Honorary Doctorate from the City University of London.
Patrick Low
Fellow and Asia Global Institute

Patrick Low is currently AsiaGlobal Fellows Program Director at the Asia Global Institute, as well as Visiting Professor in the Faculty of Business and Economics at The University of Hong Kong. Prior to that he was the Vice-President of Research at the Hong Kong Institute. He served as an Economist at the World Trade Organization from 1997 to 2011, having previously worked at the Global Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) Secretariat from 1988 to 1989. After joining the WTO in 1990, he worked on trade in services for two years before his appointment as Chief Economist.

From 1999 to 2000 he also served as World Trade Organization (WTO) Director-General Mike Moore’s Chief of Staff. Between leaving the GATT and joining the WTO, Dr Low taught economics at the Colegio de Mexico in Mexico City, from 1997 to 1999, and during this time worked as a Consultant for a range of governments and inter-governmental institutions. From 1990 to 1994 he worked as a senior economist in the World Bank’s research complex (International Trade Division). His main areas of research at the Bank were trade policy, trade and the environment, fiscal policy and customs reform.

Dr Low was also an Adjunct Professor of International Economics at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, during his tenure as Chief Economist at the WTO. He taught two courses; one on trade theory and the theory of trade policy, and the other on the economics of the environment, trade and climate change. Dr Low holds a BSc in Economics from the University of Kent and a PhD in Economics from Sussex University, both in the UK, and has written widely on a range of trade policy issues.
